Afaf Ibrahim - Full Stack JavaScript Developer

Hello, I'm Afaf Ibrahim from Italy. During my computer science studies I discovered my dream to develop websites and apps. I'm looking for an opportunity to start contributing to projects as part of a team! It excites me to start from scratch and make all pieces fit together perfectly. I am most productive in JavaScript right now, but ready to learn new technologies!

Projects

This is a Photo sharing App that allows you to upload/take a photo and share it with all the users that follow you. This project has been created and implemented by following a TDD strategy (as much as I could)

Frontend tech: React, writing custom context(s) and hooks, CSS, form validation with Yup, basic e2e test with Playwright (Puppeteer)

Backend tech: Express, writing custom middlewares, Postgres, Queries and migrations using Sequelize ORM, e2e tests with Jest & Supertest, authentication with JWT and request validation with Yup. Image upload implemented using the Cloudinary api.

The Vampire Diaries API

This is a public REST API, where you can query data from a famous TV show called The Vampire Diaries. Requests require an api key. Includes an interactive API explorer. I made my first open source contribution - I added my api to: github.com/public-apis/public-apis

Api tech: Express, Sequelize ORM, Postgres, e2e tests with Jest & Supertest, web scraping with JSDOM, request validation (and generating readable errors) using Yup

Api explorer tech: React, writing custom context(s) and hooks, CSS, Bootstrap UI, form validation using Yup
